

Analyses of repetitions in competition assignments

László Gábor Menyhárt^a

^aELTE-IK
menyhart@inf.elte.hu

Abstract

This article is for teachers whose students are preparing for competitions. In my another article I analysed the repetitions themselves. Now I take a look for some real tasks from the hungarian national high school study competition. I create multiple implementation for the same task and measure the time of the solution. I would like to give helpful information for the competitors to choose the best programming language.

Keywords: Education, competition, repetition, analysis